AN IMPORTANT FOOTBALL TARGET MARKET: USA

10

days at the training camp

games in the Florida Cup

The US weather forecast for Orlando in sunny Florida at the start of January 2017 was a balmy 26 degrees Celsius: just one of the reasons why the Sunshine State was the perfect choice for the Bayer 04 Leverkusen winter training camp. The close proximity to the hotel with its training facilities and the Florida Cup provided the ideal setting for their careful preparations for the second half of the Bundesliga season and were also a good way of promoting the team on an international level.

As the official travel agent of Bayer 04 Leverkusen, HRG Sports Travel handled all the travel arrangements for the team and accompanying groups, prioritizing the club's sporting and internationalization goals. The two Florida Cup games that the team won against top South American clubs successfully raised awareness of German football.

Alongside their preparations for the next Bundesliga matches, Bayer 04 Leverkusen players also attended selected events on the ground, as well as watching games involving other US sports like Basketball.

There were also meetings between Leverkusen's international players representing the team and the Bundesliga and their many enthusiastic supporters in the USA and South America.
